TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE. POSTKARTE.

By Appointment.

Browne's Hospital. This almshouse was founded in the reign of Richard III by William Browne, as a home for twelve poor, a warden and a confrater. The residue of its yearly income of £2,735, after all expenses of the charity have been paid, goes to the Stamford Endowed Schools. The building, which stands in Broad Street, is Late Perpendicular in style, and there is some fine old glass in the chapel window.
